A woman accused of stabbing to death her mother and 18-year-old brother in their home while her boyfriend was out of town on Monday was held in lieu of $1 million bond as police continued their search for her alleged accomplice. A group of tourists traveling in a van were the first to discover the bodies of 70-year-old Norma Jean Albritton and her son at the family's home in Des Arc, Ark. An autopsy showed the mother and son were killed by a single stab wound to the chest, and that the mother died from blood loss, according to an Arkansas State Police report. Ms. Albritton, a Vietnam War veteran who had retired from Lockheed, made the fatal mistake of answering the door to a family friend when the friend was waiting to speak with her son, said Lt. Craig Pyle of Arkansas State Police. He said investigators believe that Ms. Albritton invited the friend into her home that she shared with her boyfriend, Curtis Albritton.
